

Clues listed below can help you find the words.

A document outlining the program requirements set by the client. (13)

A looping system where information is fed back in to a computer system. (8)

A pen and paper exercise to debug a program. (6)

A program is robust if it can cope with problems that come from outside and are not of its own making. (6)

A program that translates a complete high level language program into an independent machine code program. (8)

A system that responds to an external event such as mouse click or a key press. (11)

An argument of a procedure or function that represents a local variable. (9)

An iterative process is one that incorporates feedback and involves an element of repetition. (9)

Commercial Off The Shelf software. (4)

Data that is used to test whether software works properly and that it is reliable and robust. (8)

Generic description of the personnel involved in developing the software solution. (15)

Independent machine code that can be run without translation. (14)

Rapid Application Development. (3)

The detection, location and removal of errors in a program. (9)

The finished program runs to specification and is robust and reliable. (13)

The person or group that initiates the development process by specifying a problem. (6)

The sharing of characteristics between a class of object and a newly created sub class. (11)